Vol. XIX, Newsletter, 2017

From the Desk of The Director

The National Institute of Health and Family Welfare, in 2017 has undertaken number of activities through its teaching, research and training programmes for the promotion of health and family welfare in the country. Let me take this opportunity to share a glimpse of them with you. To enhance the professional efficacy and strengthen capacity of the health workers across the country, NIHFW has conducted various training programmes in the areas like Health Communication, Health Care Management of Elderly, Social and Behaviour Change Communication, Hospital Administration, Leadership Development, Curriculum Design and Evaluation, etc. At the behest of Ministry of Health and Family Welfare, NIHFW, has conducted two Foundation Training Programmes for the General Duty Medical Officers under Central Health Services. In all, one hundred and seventy-four newly recruited medical officers had been trained so far. As a part of the Skill India initiative, NIHFW has conducted training programmes for the First Responders, enabling them to attend a patient on emergency. As a part of Research and Evaluation, NIHFW, has successfully completed number of external evaluation of various National Health Programmes like, Evaluation of National Programme on Prevention and Management of Burn Injuries (NPPMBI), Evaluation of Capacity Building for Development of Trauma Care Facilities in Government Hospitals on National Highways, Evaluation of National Mental Health Programme (Scheme A and B), Evaluation of Public Health Measures at Point of Entry for International Travelers, Evaluation and Third Party verification of the Santushti strategy of JSK in the State of Rajasthan etc. In addition to above, a numbers of health activities were also held. We are happy to share a glimpse of these.

40th Annual Day Celebration

On March 9, 2017 Annual Day was celebrated at NIHF. Prof. Jayanta K. Das, Director, NIHF presented Institute's report highlighting the achievements during 2016-17. Shri C. K. Misra, Union Secretary, Ministry of Health and Family Welfare, was the Chief Guest on the occasion. While appreciating the various activities of the Institute, the Secretary pointed out that the Institute being a premier one in the field of health and family welfare, its work should speak on its own and should match with other premier institutions of the country. He also desired that the faculty of the Institute should undertake more research activities which may help to take relevant policy decisions.

Dr. Jagdish Prasad, Director General of Health Services, Government of India, was the Guest of Honour. He expressed his satisfaction with the report presented by the Director. Realizing the various constraints of the Institute, Dr. Prasad suggested that the Director of the Institute should be given full freedom to pursue various academic activities and the vacant faculty posts in various departments should be filled up.

Awards to the academic toppers of various courses offered by the NIHFV were also given during Annual Day celebration. Best workers and sports persons of the Institute were also facilitated during the ceremony.
